Meet Danielle Ellis

Danielle trained as a professional bread baker at Ecole Banette in France in 2014 after a career in marketing.

She runs a variety of courses in Cambridge, Gloucestershire including bread baking, sweet doughs, pastry and pizza making classes. The emphasis is on providing skills that can be replicated at home. She also runs tailored course for those wishing to focus on a particular skill or running a cafe or are setting up a microbakery using the Rofco oven.

She is an ambassador for the Real Bread Campaign, a judge for the World Bread Awards and dabbles in making sloe gin.

Praise for Danielle's Courses

We plump for a more cake-filled menu, based on Danielle's professional baking skills (she even trained in France) and we end up with a delicious selection of sweet snacks, which turn out to be especially delicious when consumed from the comfort of the hot tub...." Jallian Yahia

"We had such a fun class with Danielle. She went above and beyond to personalise the class to the eight ladies celebrating a big birthday by creating an afternoon tea for us- the scones and cinnamon buns were yummy!" Alison Watkins

"It was great to make bread with Danielle. A small group of 4 of us, great tuition, great company and ... great outcome! I love bread."
